

Enter into the Holy of Holies

Although the veil has been rent, the curtain torn and thrust back that you may enter into the Holy of Holies and fellowship with Me, one on one, says the Lord, many of you, because of the brightness of that Light, it frightens you. As you approach the veil to draw the curtain and enter My Presence, old things of religion rise up, and you say, "No I cannot. I cannot go in. I want to, but surely, I would die if I went there." But the Lord says, I am calling you. Come into that place I have prepared for you, which is the Holy of Holies of your spirit, and you will dine from My table. We will commune and fellowship together, says the Lord. And the light that I am, as you emerge from that place, you shall carry that light, first, into your own soul, and as that light escapes your soul, it shall fill your body with light. And as you continue, you will deliver My light to those who sit in darkness, says the Father.

But many of you continue to pace in front of a veil which you have closed, for I have rent it open. But you keep it closed. You desire to enter in, but the safety of semi-darkness is more familiar and more comfortable, and there are still those things taught by My enemy that would prevent you from entering in. But the Lord is truly calling you this day saying: Thrust back that veil. It is not closed to you. I, Myself, have opened it. Do not hold it shut. Enter into My Presence. Let My light, My love saturate your very being, and as you emerge, you will emerge a changed man, a different man, a man who walks stride for stride with his God. And arm and arm, the will of the Father shall be restored upon this earth, says the Spirit of Grace.
